NOTICE

Many changes in the Food Stamp Program will take place in the next few months. The first major change will take place on January 1, 1979. As of January 1, 1979, people who are eligible for food stamps will no longer have to pay any money in order to receive their coupons.

In the past people who get their food stamps in the mail had to mail money to the local food stamp office before the stamps were mailed to them. For instance a person who had to pay $70.00 for the 400.00 worth of food stamps had to mail $70.00 to the local food stamp office with a special form before the $100.00 worth of stamps was mailed back. This person received $30.00 worth of bonus food stamps ($100-$70.00). Beginning on January 1, 1979, this person would receive $30.00 in bonus coupons directly in the mail, without having to send any money or any special forms to the local food stamp office. The money previously used to buy food stamps would be used to purchase food beginning January 1, 1979.

Food stamps, for persons who get them regularly in the mail, will be issued on the first five working days of each month.

Food stamps, for persons who get them regularly in the mail, will be mailed on the first five working days of each month.

If you have any questions about how this will affect your food stamp case please call your local food stamp office. Phone 352-7125.

In Memoriam

In memory of Leonard Carter on our 14th anniversary When evening shadows gather after all my work is through I can't keep my eyes from straying to a photograph of you There it rest upon my table Just the way you looked that day It seems it were just yesterday When I first heard you say words of love and kindness that made me happy and made all my dreams come true but tonight I'm alone with a photograph of you and when the years have told their story and I have had it hard the past years through, but I shall always have sweet memories and a photograph of you. My heart is ever with you while I wait the long days through and one of my dearest treasures is that photograph of you
By his wife,
Florine Carter
12-7-1tc

In loving memory of Matthew Pankey who departed this life Thursday, December 8, 1977.

AWAY
We cannot say, and will not say That he is dead, He is just away!
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,
He has wandered into an unknown land.
We think of him Faring on, as dear
In the love of there as the love of here:
Mild and gentle, as he was brave
The touches of his hands have strayed
Think of him still as the same, we say
He is not dead, he is just away!
Sorrowfully submitted
The children and their families.

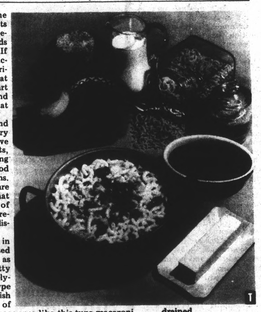
PROTECTING YOUR HEART
Macaroni Casserole Is Popular With Children



Are you watching the amount of saturated fats your children eat? And seeing that they eat more foods high in polyunsaturates? If not, you should be, according to medical authorities who now believe that atherosclerosis and heart disease may be the end result of conditions that began in childhood.

Recent studies have found warning signs of coronary disease, such as degenerative changes and fatty deposits, in the arteries of very young children, and high blood cholesterol levels in teens. Although many factors are involved, it is believed that modifying the diets of young people may help reduce the risk of heart disease in later life.

The goal is a diet low in foods containing saturated fat and cholesterol (such as diary products and fatty meats) and higher in polyunsaturated fats (the type found in vegetable oils, fish and poultry). This type of dietary modification has been shown to be effective in decreasing high blood cholesterol levels.

Planning a low saturated-fat diet need not be a problem. For example, a margarine such as Fleischmann's Margarine containing almost one cup of liquid corn oil per pound, used in place of butter, can be the most important single source of polyunsaturates in the family diet. The average daily intake of Fleischmann's Margarine supplies about ten times more polyunsaturates than the same quantity of butter.

Corn oil margarine can be used in place of other shortenings in your favorite recipes. Or start with special ones like this tuna-macaroni casserole created with child-appeal. You'll notice that skim milk is used in place of whole milk in the sauce to further reduce saturated fat content.

TUNARONI CASSEROLE
2 tablespoons unsifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/8 teaspoon curry powder
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
2 cups skim milk
2 cups cooked elbow macaroni
1 can (1-lb.) tomatoes, drained
2 cans (7 oz. each) tuna, drained
2 tablespoons Fleischmann's Corn Oil Margarine, melted
1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs

Combine flour, salt, pepper and curry powder. Add oil; stir until smooth. Add onion and parsley. Cook, stirring occasionally, until onion is tender. Gradually stir in skim milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Mix sauce with macaroni, tomatoes and tuna. Place in a 1-1/2-quart baking dish.

Combine margarine and bread crumbs. Sprinkle on top. Bake at 375° F. about 35 minutes.

How Toys Are Made

Successful toys—those with high play value—don't happen by accident. A new toy may take up to two years to develop.

Children want to use their imaginations when playing. A 5-year-old with a road grader in a sand box plays at building a superhighway; his friend with a toy rescue vehicle is saving a life. "Our world of work is a child's world of play," says Kevin Ryan, vice president for research and development of Tonka Toys, a Minnesota-based maker of toy vehicles.

Tonka follows an intricate process in designing and bringing its 20 million toy vehicles to market—starting by interviewing parents about toy ideas. The best ideas advance to sketches, which are tried out on more consumers.

Model building is next, as ideas undergo further evaluation by professionals such as directors of day care centers.

At each stage, the toy is evaluated for its ability to sustain interest and stimulate imagination, for its durability and safety.

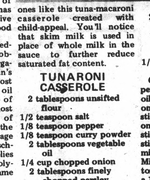
If the toy is approved for manufacture, engineering prints and engineering drawings are prepared. Then production models get the toughest test of all—play testing by children in a variety of situations, while researchers observe to see that the children do have fun.

TOYS SUCH AS the Custom Van and the Adventure Buggy run on "child power."

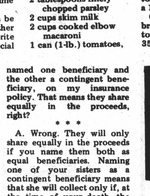
"We concentrate on toys that run on 'child power,'" says Ryan, "that operate without batteries or other gimmicks to go wrong. It helps children learn and create."

The thousands of hours of development pay off at Christmas—with a happy child and a new toy.

For a free brochure on how Tonka Toys are made, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to: Consumer Relations, Dept. N, Tonka Toys, Mound, Minnesota 55364.



According to scholars, man has had over 60 centuries of involvement with gold. It's possible the first nuggets found still exist today, remolded yet untarnished—perhaps in some gold jewelry of yours.



Gold today is used in hundreds of industrial applications and even went with man on his most far-reaching adventure. Astronauts wear gold-plated heat shields when they walk in space and on the moon.

QUALITIES In Sound
Little Known Facts

Car-owning music afficionados can have stereo with cassettes or 8-track installed in or under their dashboards. That way they can be seated front row center listening to their favorite music while traveling to their favorite vacation spot, without depending on local radio stations for music they love.

* * *

Even the most highly-strung music lover appreciates a good bargain. A place to get a good bargain is at stores such as Radio Shack, a nationwide, quality store which sells a quality brand such as Realistic, at realistically low prices.

* * *

When shopping for a receiver never choose chrome over chromium. A receiver that looks like the control panel of a 747 may be pretty to look at, but one with a simple exterior and accurate music reproduction is what you should look for.

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE

Prepared by the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, the national society of life insurance professionals who have earned the C.L.U designation by meeting high educational, ethical and experience requirements.

Q. I'm a confirmed bachelor in my fifties. I have two younger sisters and have named one beneficiary and the other a contingent beneficiary, on my insurance policy. That means they share equally in the proceeds, right?

* * *

A. Wrong. They will only share equally in the proceeds if you name them both as equal beneficiaries. Naming one of your sisters as a contingent beneficiary means that she will collect only if, at the time of your death, the primary beneficiary (your other sister) is no longer living.
